SPEAKER

ELISE McCAVE

Deputy Director of BRITDOC
She recently moved from London to New York, to establish the US office of the Foundation. From New York, she has oversight on the Good Pitch global programme, which she has been working on since the first event in Oxford in 2008. She also works with the UK and US teams to deliver a number of BRITDOC's other projects, including the Impact Field Guide and the BRITDOC Impact Award.

In-Docs in cooperation with Jia Foundation (Singapore), Ford Foundation (Indonesia) and BRITDOC (UK) is proud to host the first ever Good Pitch² Southeast Asia.

Conceptualized by BRITDOC and Sundance Documentary Institute, Good Pitch is not just an ordinary pitching forum where filmmakers ask for financial support and search for distribution avenues. Good Pitch forges powerful partnerships between multi-disciplinary stakeholders – NGOs, philanthropists, social entrepreneurs, corporate/brand partners, broadcasters, educators, policy makers, and any changemakers who can utilize good documentary films to make their intended impact in the society.
